THE POLISH INFORMATION OFFICE, 525½ MAY ST., WASHINGTON, D.C., REPORTED ON MAY 24, 1957, THAT THE AMERICAN RELIEF FOR POLAND (ARP) HAD BEEN APPROVED BY THE POLISH GOVERNMENT ON MAY 18, 1957, TO REOPEN ITS ACTIVITIES IN POLAND.

Possible Re-Opening of American Relief for Poland Activities in Poland

Miss Stanisława Logodzinska, 32-year-old Polish-American, who has been working for the Polish Information Office at 52½ May Street, Washington, D.C., President of the Polish-American Alliance, called at the Embassy on May 18, and during conversations held before and after her conference with the Polish Minister of Labor and Social Welfare, provided the following information regarding the proposal of the American Relief for Poland (ARP) to resume its activities in this country. Miss Logodzinska said that she had been authorized by the President of ARP in the United States, Dr. W. J. Skrzynski of Milwaukee, to undertake preliminary negotiations with the Polish Government. Indicative of the attitude, it would appear, is its decision to close down its Western European office, which has in the past several years been assisting Polish refugees. It is not known to the embassy whether this decision of ARP was communicated to the Polish officials and whether it had any influence upon the proposed negotiations to resume ARP work within Poland.

Miss Logodzinska said that she had already held two of these conversations, each with Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Mieczysław Mieroszewski and with leading officials of the Ministry of Labor and Social Welfare, including Minister Stanisław ZAWADZKI and Undersecretary MICHALOWICZ. These Polish officials, said Miss Logodzinska, had welcomed the idea of ARP returning to Poland. She expected, during the course of a further conference with the Ministry of Labor to be offered a contract to be signed, which would define the functions and activities of ARP. At this point she asked the Embassy's guidance. In reply, she was informed that inasmuch as the Embassy had previously heard nothing of the details of the negotiations and had seen no copy of the proposed contract, it might be useful for Miss Logodzinska to receive the Polish proposal on the basis of referring it to her American associates. It subsequently developed that the "contract" took the form of what might be called a letter of intent of the Ministry of Labor to collaborate with ARP. Miss Logodzinska stated that when this letter was given to her, her signature was affixed to the Ministry's copy of the document merely as acknowledgement of the receipt of the letter. Ministry of Labor's letter of May 31 enclosed herewith as enclosures to Annexes A and B. Miss Logodzinska said that during the conversations with the reporting officers, Miss Logodzinska said that she had been informed by some of the Polish officials, including Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Winiewicz, that the Poles wished that the ARP should carry out the administration of CARE functions in Poland. Miss Logodzinska said that she had very discussed this subject with Mr. Reuter of CARE, who has been in Warsaw during the past ten days. Miss Logodzinska also stated that Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Winiewicz told her that the ARP would not be permitted to operate in Poland if it intended to have its gifts handled through the Roman Catholic Church's national or local officials. She also said Winiewicz indicated the regime did not want Cardinal WYSZYNSKI to get control over CARITAS, the Catholic welfare group. No comment was made by the reporting officers on these subjects but the question was asked whether the American contributors to ARP were exclusively Catholic or Polish-American descent. Miss Logodzinska said that although most of ARP's financial support came from this group, there were other contributors.

Miss Logodzinska said that in her own opinion she felt that it might be possible for a two-member ARP delegation to come to Poland to work out further details of the relief program as early as July 1, 1957. This date, she subsequently said, might be optimistic as it is possible that some of the ARP officials, perhaps including Mr. Seletlik, will be in Geneva attending refugee meetings in June. Miss Logodzinska, who was in Poland directing a group of eighty Polish-American women tourists, said that the group's schedule called for departure from Warsaw by bus on May 20, proceeding to Berlin, Dusseldorf, Paris and Le Havre, apparently planning to sail for the United States in the early part of June.

COMMENT:

1. As the Department will observe from the contents of the Ministry of Labor's letter, the subjects covered in the letter may require the authorization of other ministries to be put into effect.

2. The matter of sending individual parcels or gifts seems not to be part of the program of ARP, as it was explained by Miss Logodzinska that bulk shipments addressed to Polish government agencies are contemplated. If that is indeed ARP's policy for Poland, some of the problems confronting Mr. Reuter of CARE (see Embassy despatch no. 526) will probably not arise.

3. In the estimate of the Bureau, that when and if the CARE organization learns that ARP would wish to administer the CARE program in Poland, CARE would be unlikely to agree.

4. The Department may find it advisable to ask representatives of CARE and ARP to decide at an executive level, within the U.S., as to the extent to which the two organizations will coordinate their efforts in Poland.

5. There may be fund-raising campaigns organized in the U.S. by the National Catholic Welfare Council or by other Catholic organizations. There has as yet been no visitor representing such interests to come to the Embassy. As there is the possibility of overlapping of functions between CARE and ARP, it is equally possible that the idea should recommend itself to the Department to request Catholic charitable organizations to be represented at any meeting in which CARE and ARP may attempt to work out complementary programs.

6. It appears doubtful that the ARP program can actually get under way earlier than September, according to the Embassy's experience with previous matters of this kind.
